North America Scholastic Esports Federation NASEF MENAcraft™ 2022-2023

Introduction

NASEF's MENAcraft™ gathers young people from the United States and the Middle East and North Africa region in a safe, neutral, and inspiring online community, blending play and learning for a cultural and language exchange. By creating scholastic esports clubs, learning from STEM professionals, playing team games, and building in Minecraft, participants develop key skills with an understanding of how those translate into workforce opportunities. They interact with peers around the world, building empathy and cross-cultural understanding as they cultivate innovation and entrepreneurship experience.

Activities:

Young people ages 13-18 create clubs and collaborate on building their Club Charter, Code of Conduct, and Business Plan with goals and objectives. They also participate in moderated open-ended play in Minecraft and esports games, structured learning and cultural exchange experiences, and a dynamic Speaker Series providing career and cultural insights.

These rules serve as a contract between Players, Teams, and NASEF and its affiliates involved in the operation of NASEF MENAcraft™ 2022-2023. All Players, Adult Facilitators, and all other individuals participating in any NASEF activity ("Participants") must read and agree to these Rules before joining any of the program activities..

For questions and concerns regarding NASEF MENAcraft™ 2022-2023, its rules and Team Guide, please contact us via email at info@NASEF.org.

Esports Gameplay

In Cohort 1 (Summer 2022), students will utilize Spaceteam ESL, a free cooperative social game accessible on mobile devices as a local and international exchange team-building activity. Teams of 2-4 players are working together to fly a spaceship. To survive, they must follow the instructions and press the right buttons on their control panel on their mobile devices. Teams must communicate and work together to survive!

Students are encouraged to play games with their own club members to build communication and collaboration skills. In addition, they will have the opportunity to play globally during scheduled "Community Game Sessions" in the MENAcraft™ community Discord. Using the "ESL" version of the game, educators / general managers can also program the game to include cross-cultural language exchange. Specific dates for gameplay with teams from other countries are outlined in the schedule. Additionally, students may connect with other clubs via Discord and set their own game times.

Minecraft Activities

Minecraft activities will include free play within each participating region and specific build challenges that will be shared via Flipgrid. NASEF will provide a free Minecraft: Education Edition account to any student who needs it. Details on obtaining the license are included below.

The 2022 NASEF MENAcraft™ Competition consists of two build challenges.

- All registered club members can form teams and submit to either or both of the challenges. Teams can include no more than four members; students may only participate on one Minecraft team per cohort.
- They will follow the design challenge and submit the video of their build on the NASEF Flipgrid. Details on using Flipgrid are provided below.
- Dates for announcement of the challenge topics and submission deadlines are found in the schedule below.
- In order to be highlighted in the final livestream, participants must have attended at least 75% of the virtual exchange sessions.
- While using Minecraft: Education Edition, students may find the Immersive Reader a helpful translation tool. It will translate all text in the program from English to over 60 languages.

Beyond the Game Challenges

These challenges utilize gaming as a platform to enhance technical STEAM-based and SEL skills. Available for each team to complete in their own free time as selected by the team in a majority vote democratic process. Some challenges require engaging teams from various nations to earn the team a reward. Beyond The Game challenges build both individual skills and collaboration within a community.

Detailed guidelines for the Challenges will be shared on livestreams as outlined in the schedule. The Challenge for Cohort 1 is to design a logo for their team. There will be an optional second challenge to Upload a Tik-Tok clip introducing the team.

Speaker Series

One (1) hour livestreams will be presented to enable students around the world to engage with gaming "pros", featuring international scholastic esports experts with emphasis on U.S. and MENA region, utilizing a common learning and sharing experiences fostering cultural cohesiveness.

All livestreams will be offered on multiple streaming platforms on the NASEF account. Participants whose first language is not English may want to view on YouTube and utilize the subtitles/caption feature for automatic translation.

The Discord Server includes a guide for participants regarding user safety and configuring privacy settings. Country leads will verify that the participants have reviewed the settings guide during the first virtual exchange. Within Discord, Bots will be used to filter Spam with automated triggers like deleting messages, warning users or even banning them from the server. In addition, bots provide participants with a method to discreetly contact country leads or program staff if needed.
